ALLEGED ABDUCTION.

A SINGULAR REVELATION.

Two Young Ladies Leaving Their Father for a Self-Constituted Guardian, Who Provides for Them—The Anxious Father Flacing His Daughters in a Convent-Brilliant Prospacts from Different Pointsof View. of the most peculiar cases ever made public came the notice of the officials at the Tombs yesterday ng. While Judge Dowling was sitting on the bench a middle aged man, giving the name of John T. Kelly, of No. 40 City Mail place, came into court and demanded a warrant for the arrest of his daughter, who, he said, was being deined in a boarding house in Thirty-first street, between seemd and Third avenues. He did not advance any particu-Second and Third avenues. He did not advance any particu-lars as to the "whya" or "wherefores," consequently the war-rant was granted, and an officer (Hill) attached to the court was sent with him to bring the young issly to the court. The warrant was returnable at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, and accordingly at about that time the aforesaid gentie-man, the officer and the young lady were in the court awaiting the decision of the Judge. But the story has many ramifications. At first it was thought the young lady had run away from school of ne relative was detaining her against the will of her but such was not the case. The following is the nt of the officer, gathered from the landford of the out filty-five years of age, giving the name of D. S. Young, oplied at his house, in Thirty-first street, for board for two eks for two young, well-educated ladies. The two girls, med Jenuse and Haggie Kelly, were with him at the time of heard him state that

and wished to place them in some respectable place, where he would be certain everything was right. Jennie is a tall, Landsoune brunette, of about twenty-one years of sige, sparking in conversation and a brilliant humorist; she is also a splenoid performer on the plano. Haggie is also a dark brunette, but the plano is a splenoid performer on the plano. Haggie is also a dark brunette, but much smaller and more compact, and is only about seventeen evars of age. If a considerable quantity of baggare, after the winter of the landford, and play and sing together and otherwise amuse themselves, as though they were members of the family. In the course of conversation with the landfady of the house one day, the eldest girl, who saw that there was a wrong impression in the house concerning them, said that she had a father alive, but that he never acted toward them as such, he being cruel and unjust to them, and that as they had an estate bequeathed to them by their mother they had requested their guardian to remove them from where he was. This estate Jennie alleged was in rangiand, and was work ut trivation of the political of the course of the state of t

guardian to remove them from where he was. This estate Jennie alleged was in fingland, and was works UTWAEDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS, and that the father was trying to get at it in some way. After they had been settled in their new home a few days their friend Young called and saw them, cat with them in the same room as the family, and left them to the same room as the family, and left them to the same room as the family, and left them to the same room as the family, and left them to the same room as the family. Since that time be has been a constant visitor at the house, calling twice or three times a week, and always paid their board for them in an ance. In addition to his other attentions he has compelled them to pay periodical visits to a physician in the neighborhood, so that their health might not be neglected. The eldest girl, dennie, has been in the labit of going away for two days together, alleging that they had been girly the same that they had been and to there worth a good deal of money, partly from which their income was derived. Only vesterday morning Jennie repeated the subject of the previous conversation with the landindy, stating that the railer was in basiness in New York, but that she never wanted to see him again, as she believed he was the cause of their morned by the landindy that the young women were out, and they had been out; but the youngest Haggle, had returned without her knowledge, and had been upstairs dressing for linch, when she saw her father with the officer own befrom do to he was the cause of the ramily.

After considering for aftew moments he torused to the officer and the anatons parent and told them that if they would go and stand out in the street near the corner of the avenue he would soon place the voting lady in their hands, as he now began to feel that samething was wrone. When the men had retired he, by means of speaking through the kewhole of the door, gained admission to the room and told Haggie that sander the circumstances, as he had got rid of the officers, she would have to leave his house, and her sister also, as he was greatly surprised she had kept the fact of her father's existence in the background, and that

"All right: I will go with you," she replied; and after some little arrangements regarding the trunks had been completed she left the house, accompanied by the landbord, who was the left the house, accompanied by the landbord, who was was that attendance, who had been acquainted with all the circumstances, and he related briefly what has been stated above. Much to him, with prefect hoddlened. Some

the case turned out to be as bad as the father represented it their "GUARDIAR" WOULD HAVE TO ANSWER to the authorities. It was a remarkable thing that two well-educated, intelligent, accomplished girls should stand by and near this man say he was their guardian, inferring that both their parents were dead, and never saying a word in contradiction, while they must have known the contrary. If this man had decoyed them a sway after the devotion the father said they previously possessed, then no parent was certain that the same fascinating instinations might not be employed to attract their children from the paths of rectifude and virtue. Hagte said she was certain the man was wealthy and that her tather was mistaken altogether—fearfully so. She sidn't want to go to the content, and before leaving the Court she said she was determined not to stay there, and requested the inspector to bid her sister "to cheer up, as she would soon be with her." The Inspector promised to investigate the matter thoroughly, and to-day the real facts of this mysterious case will doubtless be made public. In the meantime the two ladies are enjoying the hospitality of les Saure de Charife.

THE WESTFIELD CALAMITY.

Mesers, Vanderbilt, Braisted, Robinson and Mathews Indicted by the Grand Jury for

The Grand Jury of the General Sessions, of which Mr. Wil-liam L. Bly is foreman, came into Court yesterday morning and presented some indictments. His Honorthe Recorder then inquired of the foreman if they had finished all the tive, the Recorder, in discharging them, congratulated the tirand Inquest upon the intelligence and despatch shown in disposing of the public business.

They found bills of indictment for manslaughter in the third degree against the following persons:-Jacob H. Van-derbilt, President of the Staten Island Ferry Company:

third degree against the following persons:—Jacob H. Vanderbitt, President of the Staten Haland Ferry Company; James H. Braisted, Superintendent, and Henry Roblinson, engineer. An indictment for manslaughter in the fourth degree was presented against John K. Mathews, United States Inspector of Boilers.

Mr. Mathews has not yet been arrested, but no doubt the action of the Grand Jury was communicated to him in the course of the day, and it is probable that the requisite amount of ball will be promptly fornished. It is needless to state that these indictments are the result of the explosion of the obler on the steamboat Westfield, running from New York to Staten Island, which calamity occasioned the death of over one hundred human beings.

It will be remensered that George Law became bondaman for Mr. Vanderbilt in the sum of $20,000, and also for Messra. Braissed and Robinson in the sum of $30,000 and also for Messra. Braissed and Robinson in the sum of $30,000 and also for Messra. Braissed and Robinson in the sum of $30,000 and also for Messra. While the arraignment of the defendants. # FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY, September 1-6 P. M. On 'Change to-day wheat was heavy and lower. The cotton market was quiet and steady. THE COTTON CROP OF 1870-71.

Yesterday was the last day of the so-called cotton Year, and the statisticians are now at work figuring up the crop. According to the tables of Mr. B. F. Voorhees, superintendent of the New York Cotton Exchange, the total crop was 3,968,577 bales, but private records bring it up to 4,009,000 bales. The fact is certain, however, that the crop in round numbers is 4,000,000 bales.

THE DRY GOODS IMPORTS. The imports of dry goods at this port for the week ending August 31, 1871, were $3,915,669.

THE PUBLIC DEST. The statement of the Treasury Department for the month of August shows a further reduction of $9,206,279 in the public debt. The total of the debt, inclusive of outstanding gold certificates, is $2,372,904,597, and the cash in the Treasury is $98,782,036.

THE REPUNDING OF THE PIVE-TWENTIES. A great deal of perplexity attends the effort to understand the method by which the Treasury Department will refund the one hundred millions of five-twenties called in by the notice of Thursday hundred and twenty millions, in round numbers, and as the cash subscriptions from Europe are for $80,000,000, it was not at first perceived how the additional $20,000,000 was to be provided for. It turns out that it was a portion of the agreement with the Syndicate that Mr. Boutwell should apply $20,000,000 of his Treasury gold to the redemption of the debt over and above the conversion of the $200,000,000 of five-twenties. In the list designated in the last order of the Treasury Department there is quite or nearly $80,000,000 of old '62's, which bonds, beyond a doubt, are in Europe, where their redemption can be effected with the gold subscribed for the new five per cents. The list also includes about $18,000,000 of regis-tered five-twenties. Taese bonds are chiefly in the Treasury Department as collateral for national bank issues. The extra $20,000,000 of government gold is, therefore, directed to their redemption more especially. If the banks interested supply the place of these bonds with other five-twenties then the government gold will come on the market; but if they can substitute bonds to be procured from the government upon the offering of a further instalment of the new loan within the ensuing nanety days the gold will remain in the Treasury and twenty millions more of the debt be refunded. Measure it is understood that holders of the bonds designated for redemption may present them at any time within the ninety days and receive the principal in gold and accrued interest.

GOLD DULL-112% A 112%. The gold market was dull, with a firm undertone. the stronger feeling being due to the current heavy imports of foreign merchandise, which offset for the present any apprehension of a supply of gold from the Treasury in connection with the redemption of the five-twenties. Speculation is quite tame, nowever, and both parties are unwilling to take a pold step either way. The changes in the market

MONEY EASIER.

Early in the day borrowers in stock collaterals paid 3½ a 4 per cent quite cheerfully for accommodation, but toward the close of banking hours there was quite a sensible relaxation in the inquiry and balances were pressed at three per cent. The government houses were supplied at 2 a 3 per cent. Commercial paper was unchanged.

Foreign exchange was dull and heavy on the basis of 109 for prime bankers' sixty-day sterling and 109% for signt bills.

Score 14 to 11.
Yesterday afternoon the Eckfords, of Writamsburg, played the fifth and deciding game of their championship series with the well-known Forest City Club, of Cleveland. There was but a moderate attendance, and ere the season closes most of the clubs will have discovered whether the mem-bers of the press were correct in advising them to limit the charge for admission to twenty-five cents.

of backers at the price. Although there were occasional sports of brilliant batting and deloing throughout the game, yet it cannot be characterized as other than a first class muffin contest. The weather was not at all oppressively warm, and yet all the players seemed irritable and unfit to play. Mr. Mort. Rogers, of the Stars, was elected umpire, and he soiled play at 3 23, the Clevelanders being the first to handle the willow. Gedney, Swandell and Nelson all muled in the first inding, allowing the Clevelanders being the first to handle the willow. The second inning was a slight improvement on the previous one, the Eccloret's giving the Forest City men a near coat of whitewash walls they second and sarred a final, the only one they chandler in which the Clevelanders were the origin on the third funning, while the Eccloret's were the origin in the third funning, while the Eccloret's were the origin in the third funning, while the Eccloret's were the remarkable to score the rank, that giving them a strong lead. This was reduced considerably in the fourth inning by the Fig. 12 to 10 the third and sand integer were not entitled to a single rim out of the three they scored. The game was now 10 to 5 in favor of the Williamsburg lads, but a couple of wintewnshes administered to them in the hith and such innings and three runs added to the Cleveland score made matters less rors and a little more exciting. The Old Brooklyn Pets Badly Panished. The Atlantic Club, of Brooklyn, ptayed a game yesterday with the Forest City Club, of Rockford, on the Capitoline Ground, in presence of between two and three hundred spec-tators. Of course it was not supposed the amateurs would have much chance against the powerful Rockford team, but few persons anticipated for them such a crushing defeat as they met with from the hands of their professional opponents. The game opened well, giving every prospect of a close and exciting contest, but, after the fourth inning bad been played, and the soure stood 5 to 5, the Atlantic men seemed to lose all confidence in themselves, and fielded
